Christopher Newmark, Partner

Mediation experience

Chris's mediations have covered a very broad range of commercial disputes and in addition to mediating in the UK, Chris has been retained to conduct mediations internationally, including in the US, Canada and Belgium. Chris is a member of CEDR Chambers, CEDR's lead UK practice group of mediators. He has been appointed as an international mediator by the ICC and by WIPO and is on the mediator panels of the Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS) and CPR Institute for Dispute Resolution.

Chris is recommended as a leading mediator by both Chambers and The Legal 500. Chambers 2018 quotes: "His ability to cut to key points and corral some explosive personalities is nothing short of exceptional". Legal 500 describes Chris as "dynamic and approachable" and says that he is praised for his "patience and determination" and willingness to "stay with parties to the very end".

Chris's approach to mediating involves thorough preparation, including early briefings with the parties aimed at ensuring that all protagonists arrive at the mediation ready to engage. Whilst he places the focus on the parties and their commercial interests, he also uses his expertise as a commercial arbitrator and litigator to assist the parties in evaluating their strengths and weaknesses.

In addition to commercial contract disputes Chris has particular experience in mediating and arbitrating in the following sectors:

IT and telecoms; Oil and gas; Banking and finance; Shareholder; M&A; Insurance; Construction; Public sector; Fine art; Sport; Insolvency; Professional negligence.

Professional background

Chris Newmark, is a Partner at Spenser Underhill Newmark LLP, a practice specialising in commercial dispute resolution. Chris was previously a Partner at the London office of Baker & McKenzie, where he was the chair of the firm's European Dispute Resolution Group.

Chris is regularly appointed as chairman, panel arbitrator and sole arbitrator in arbitrations under the LCIA, ICC, Stockholm Chamber and UNICTRAL rules and in ad hoc arbitrations. Chris was the first emergency arbitrator to be appointed under the 2012 ICC Rules.

Chris has also represented clients before many international tribunals in arbitrations governed by the UNCITRAL, LCIA, ICC and LME rules and has represented clients in investment arbitrations administered by ICSID.

Chris has a good working knowledge of French, having studied French law at the University of Limoges.

Personal Style

Comments from parties for whom Chris has recently mediated include the following:

“Chris facilitated a significant amount of pre mediation lawyer contact, and because of that we were able to get up and running quickly on the day. Chris was on top of the issues, very good at listening but also driving forward the discussion.”

“Chris was extremely commercial, handled the situation very sensitively, worked out the personalities very quickly, was very calm, found the way to resolve the mediation quickly and closed the deal. It was a superb performance. Short of wearing a Santa Claus outfit and distributing presents, it's difficult to know what Chris could have done better!”

“Chris was great...Both sides had their cases well thought out and Chris was ideal for this mediation. This was a complex case and Chris was very patient and persistent. I cannot think of any weaknesses. I would definitely use Chris again.”

“Chris was approachable, organised and methodical. He was sensitive to both parties, listened very well and helped find avenues towards resolving the issues / brokering an agreement which the parties had not considered. ....the mediator did need to probe the parties a bit and Chris did so perfectly.”

“[Chris] managed the process nicely, explaining everything so that the clients felt comfortable. In particular, I was impressed by his pre-mediation contact to the parties which helped prepare both parties for the mediation and no doubt saved time on the day. Chris was calm, clear and good at dealing with the clients. I felt comfortable with him as the mediator and would certainly use him again.”

“I would give Chris 9.5 out of 10 and thought he did an excellent job. Chris has very good people skills and was excellent at managing everybody on the day. He was very pragmatic which is what you need from a mediator. He was also non-judgemental with a non-interventionist style. Chris was prepared to stick it out on the day and the mediation went on past midnight. He made contact with us before the mediation, very informal and we appreciated that Chris had even phoned while on holiday.”

“He was very professional and had a good grasp of IT and contractual issues.”

Other dispute resolution experience

Chris was the Chairman of the ICC Commission on Arbitration and ADR from 2014 to 2017. He acted as chair of the task force revising the ICC ADR, Expertise and Dispute Board Rules. He co-chaired the ICC task force which published the ICC Commission’s “Techniques for Controlling Time and Cost in Arbitration” and was a member of the drafting sub-committee which worked on the 2012 ICC Rules of Arbitration. Chris sits on the mediator panel for the Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS) and the mediator and arbitrator panels for Sport Resolutions UK. He is a member of the LCIA.

Chris writes and speaks regularly on ADR and arbitration. He is a Senior Visiting Lecturer at the School of International Arbitration, Centre for Commercial Law Studies, Queen Mary University of London and conceived and co-edited the leading mediation book "Butterworths Mediators on Mediation - Leading Mediator Perspectives on the Practice of Commercial Mediation" which won the 2006 CEDR Excellence in ADR Award for best publication.

Chris studied Dispute Resolution at the University of de Paul in Chicago and has also trained as a mediator with CPR. Chris has also trained as a community mediator with the Lewisham Action for Mediation Project and mediated pro bono cases for LawWorks Mediation.
